Problem Statement:

People need a better way to talk and interact with others in school and work settings.

Who is experiencing the problem:

Anyone going into a new environment without knowing anyone previously.

What is the problem?:

The problem is that it can be difficult for people to go and interact with others without knowing who they are.

Where does the problem present itself?

Anytime someone goes into a new environment without any prior connections beforehand.

Why does it matter?

As time goes on, people have had a harder time interacting with people which is escalated by the use of technology and the covid pandemic forcing everyone to stay home.
